- If you think something sounds fun or educational, chances are someone else will also enjoy it!
- Group events are a great way to meet people and build community!

Ready to submit your offering for the auction:

For repeat items from previous years, please email Rachel Herbert with your item name and any changes you need to make. There's no need to complete a contribution form.

For new items, complete this Contribution Form.

Title – Give your item a snappy title.

Description - Provide a colorful description of your item. Put all the key facts in paragraph form here, including the date, time and location if this is an event. This is what will appear in the catalog, although the auction team can edit it if needed.

If you offered the same event last year, and would like to repeat the description, you can copy and paste the description from your 2020 email receipt. Look for "Building a New Way Donation Receipt" in your inbox.

Terms and Conditions - If your item has special instructions or conditions, put them here. Or you can write them in the description instead.

Value - Estimate the monetary value of your item (per person). It might not sell for this amount, but it is a good indication of the type of bid expected. Numerical values only.

Quantity - This is the number of winning bid slots available. If you intend your item to be won by only one person, enter "1". If you would like your item to have multiple winners, enter the maximum number of winning bidders. For example, if your item is an event (e.g. dinner for twelve), enter the maximum number of participants. Numerical values only.

Solicitor – This will not show in the catalog and is not a required field.

Notes - Write any notes to the auction team here. This will not show in the catalog. If you're willing to offer two, one for each year, say so here. Other helpful information would be your desired minimum bid if you don't want your item sold below a certain price. If you do not have a photo to upload, you can also tell us to use last year's photo, or ask us find a stock photo for your item.

On the 2nd page, you will also be able to upload photos of your item or previous event, if you have relevant ones we could use for the catalog.
